THE ENEMY ATTACK AND ARE REPULSED. SHERMAN'S LET WING REACHES THE RAILROAD NEAR MARIETTA.

EVERYTHING PROGRESSING FAVORABLY.

WASHINGTON, June 1-7.30 a. m. To Major General Din:

We have no intelligence this a. m. from Gen.

Grant later than yesterday at 6 a. m. An official dispatch received here at i o'clock this morning, dated yesterday-31st-at Kingston, reports that Major Hopkins, of General Steneman's staff, came from the front this evening, and eays the rebels attacked at 730 this morning, and at 10 o'clock the affair was over, the enemy repulsed, and our left reached the railroad near Marietta. To accomplish this object had been for several days the purpose of Gen. Sherman's movements. Additional forces are reaching him, and ample supplies. EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War. A DISAPPOINTMENT AND FAILURE.

The Bolters' Convention has nominated Fremont for President, and John Cochrane for

Vice President.

This is a weak ticket and disappoints the just expectations of that large class of patriots who looked to the Convention for a much stronger combination, namely: Vallan. digham for Presiden; and Howard, the proclamation forger, for Vice President. They argue that if indignation against military arrests is reckoned upon to carry the Bolter icket, victims should be placed in nomination instead of mere sympathisers.

Wm. Knabe, the piano manufacturer, who died in Baltimore recently, left charitable bequests to the amount of several thousand dollars. His entire estate is valued at $125,000. THE SECRETARY OF WAR has had many defenders, even if he has been "the best abused man of the war." But the only defence he needs is a plain statement of the work he has done and is doing. From the New York Times we quote the following suggestive paragraphs: " Secretary Stanton has been the best abused man of the war Many of the disasters have been fathered upon him, and very tew of the victories have been put to his credit by the estimation. Without discussing the exact e of his services to the country. It is while to consider occasionally one grand fact which is almost forgotten by the public, and yet which must reaound in history especially to the credit of his a ministration. We mean the wonderful organization by which our immense armies are kept constantly supplied with food, clothing, ammunition, and weap-"We had in the Secretary's dispatch, received on Tuesday, a brief record of a single week's administration under the War Department. Within eight days after the great battle of Spottsylvania Court House several thousand-probably some twenty-five thousandveteran troops were forwarded to Gen. Grant, and during the same time rations sufficient for his whole immense army were supplied him. Twenty thousand sick and wounded were transported from the field of battle to the Washington hospitals and placed under surgical care. Over eight thousand prisoners were conveyed from the field to prison depots, and a vast amount of artillery and weapons, won from the enemy, were brought away. Several thousand fresh cavalry horses were forwarded to the Army of the Potomic; and many thousands of reinforcements, with arms and ample supplies, were sent to the other armies in the field. During the same week a fresh army of thirty thousand men was mustered into service, clothed, armed, equipped, and transported to their respective positions. "We submit that no military department, not even Napoleon's, when he commanded the resources of most of Europe, ever showed a better week's work.

"Now, wherever individually the credit of this masterly organization may lie, historically it will be ascribed to the War Department. History will show that during a great war millions of men were armed, equipped, fed, and transported with a silent regularity and promptness to which only the longest experience in military organization can usually attain; and for this the nation has reason to be devoutly thankful."

FROM GENERAL HUNTER'S COMMAND. - The Wheeling Intelligencer of Friday states that General Hunter's army is no longer at Cedar Creek. Everything calculated to impede its progress was sent to the rear, and only one wagon to a regiment was allowed. General Hunter has issued a general order stating that the army was to live upon the country through which it passed, and, if necessary, horses and mules were to be butchered for meat.

The New York papers say money is so easy that loans are now made on miscellaneous securities which a short time ago were regarded with disfavor.

ATTENTION, COACH-MAKERS.—The regular monthly meeting of the Journey-man Coachmakers Association will be held on WEDNESDAY EVENING, June 1st, at 7% o'clk, at ftruckman's Delmonico, 5-1 lith street, near Penn, avenue. Non-members are respectfully invited to come forward and join us.

Municipal Election—Candidates, &c.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRD WARD. During my late absence from the city, and without my knowledge, I was selected by the Unconditional Union men in meeting assembled, as their nominee for re-election to the Board of Aldermen, nominee for re-election to the Board of Aldermen, by a vote of nearly two to one for my competitor, (then as now) Mr. Shepherd, whose friends called the meeting, voted for their candidate, but being defeated, now repudiate its choice. I therefore regard myself, of course, as the only regularly selected randidate for Alderman in the Ward, solemnly avering that if Mr. Shepherd had have received that nomination my name would not be before received that nomination, my name would not be before you to-day. There was, I learn, no preference expressed at the meeting in favor of any one for the Mayoralty, though the active friends of each of the candidates were present and participated in the proceedings. For this reason, doubtless, my name candidates were present and participated in the proceedings. For this reason, doubtless, my name has been inserted for Alderman in both the tickets published in the Star. Having been frequently interrogated as to my preference for Mayor at the approaching election, I take this occasion to say, as I have always done, that I am the personal friend of both the deserving gentlemen who are aspirants for the office, and have been agreeably associated with them in the city Government for several years past, but, as Mr. Wallach has discharged the responsible duties of Mayor generally to my satisfaction, and is the present incumbent, I shall, therefore, cast my vote for him on Monday next.

For seven consecutive years I have represented our Ward in the City Council, and never abused your confidence by using my official position to gratify private prejudices or personal animosities, nor given a vote that was not designed to advance your interests and prosperity, individually and collectively. If re elected, I shall pursue, on all occasions the same course well knowing the casions, the same course, well knowing that only by so doing can I hope to merit or receive the approbation of an intelligent constituency.

WHEREABOUTS OF SHERMAN. The despatch of Secretary Stanton to Gen'l Dix to-day, (published in our 1st Edition,) contains the gratifying intelligence that Sherman after some sharp fighting repulsed the enemy and has reached the railroad, near Marietta. This point (Marietta) is only 20 miles northwest of Atlanta, on the Western and Atlantic railroad, and is the Capital of Cobb county, Georgia. It is the highest point upon the rail-

Atlanta, Georgia, now apparently almost within the grasp of Sherman, is a point almost of more importance to the rebels than Richmond itself, it being the center of a number of the most important railroads of the Confederacy, and the great center also of rebel manufacturing operations.

LATE SOUTHERN NEWS.

We have before us the Richmond Examiner of the 28th of May. It states the total number of prisoners consigned to the Libby since the first battle of Manassas, in July, 1861, to have been something over 97,000; also, that bakers in Richmond now charge $1.25 per loaf for bread. The Examiner says:-" Grant is reported to have crossed the Pamunkey at Hanovertown and to be moving down probably for the point known as Piping Tree in New Kent county, some fifteen or sixteen miles from Richmond. Of the movements of Lee it would not be prudent to speak, but the reader may be well assured that he has his eye upon his adversary and will be prepared for him whenever and wherever he may show himself. Lee has never yet been surprised or outgeneraled, and it is not likely that he will be in this instance. So far the armies have only been manœuvering, but the battle will likely come off in a few days.

not intend to fight, but is going to lay siege to the city and try the spade and shovel as he did at Vicksburg. The Examiner admits the repulse received by Fitzhugh Lee in his attack up Butler's entrenchments as follows:

Deserters from Grant's army sayithat he does

"We have some further particulars of the affair in Charles City county, in which Gen. Fitzhugh Lee ventured a partial attack on a force of the enemy entrenched near the James river. The statements of the great strength of the enemy's fortifications are fully corroborated. They were strongly intrenched behind a line of fortifications stretching out from the river in the form of a horse shoe; before this ran a ditch some ten or twelve feet deep and some fitteen to eighteen feet wide, and an abattis made intricate and impenetrable by the intertwining of wire with the limbs and branches of the felled trees. So formidable and complete were the fortifications that we are told by an officer who participated in the affair, that it would have taken our men two hours to get into their works, had there even been not a man inside of them.

The force of the enemy, too, was considerably larger than was first supposed. Besides their number entrenched there were six gunboats in the river playing upon our men all the time with grape and canister. Under the circumstances Gen. Fitzhugh Lee thought it unwise to make the sacrifice it would have cost to carry the position, and retired after an unsuccessful assault upon a portion of the works, in which we had some 60 men killed From the Trans-Mississippi.

CLINTON, LA., May 24, via SUMMIT, May 6.—Banks has escaped from Alexandria by way of Simsport. A. J. Smith's corps has gone up to Natchez and Vicksburg. The balance of his army is in full retreat towards New Orleans, being now at Morjanza, on the west bank of the river. Maj. Gen. L. Canby has arrived and assumed command, Banks having gone to New Orleans. It is reported, and believed to be reliable, that Lleut. Gen. Dick Taylor is crossing at Atchafalaya river, twelve miles below, where Banks crossed. Banks' troops are reported on good authority to be very much demoralized.

Within the last six days the batteries belonging to Scott's command, have fired into five Yankee transports, crippling three seriously, knocking out the steam pipe of one, and driving off the gunboat that came to her relief. The loss of life is not known. Three stopped at Cat Island for repairs. The forces in the district are rapidly increasing, and Col. Scott is ready for any advance the enemy may make.

Gen. Lee's Army. From the Richmond Examiner, May 28. ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA, NEAR ASH-LAND, May 27, 1864, 12 m.-Both armies are certainly again on the move. Some of the enemy's prisoners who have just been brought in, say that Grant commenced the work of recrossing the the North Anna river yesterday, and that the move occupied all last night About ten o'clock last night the enemy opened upon Jordon's division a flerce cannonading, and shortly afterwards assaulted his skirmishers, with a line of battle, but were repulsed. This, of course, was a mere faint. There was some firing this morning between their rear guard and our skirmishers, but it has not amounted to anything. Grant is now moving rapidly around to our right with his whole force, and corresponding movements are on foot on our side to meet those of Grant. A day or two will probably reveal to us the new situation. Meanwhile we must bide our IVANHOE.

OPERA .- Manager Grover is reaping the legitimate fruits of his outlay in money and labor to afford first class operatic entertainments to the people of Washington. His house is crowded nightly by the elite of the city, and the public interest in these superior musical performances seems to have no visible abatement, certainly the assemblage last night showed no falling off in numbers or brilliancy. To-night the opera of Martha will be produced, and the world-renowned basso, Carl Formes, will appear in the part of Plunkett, written originally for him by Von Flotow. In other respects, also, the opera is admirably

CONGRESSIONAL. XXXVIIITE CONGRESS .- FIRST SESSION.

WEDNESDAY, June 1. SENATE.-Mr. Sherman, from the Committee on Conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the National Bank bill, made a report. He explained that there were only six points of difference between the Senate and House, the latter having generally agreed to the former's amendment. The most material amendment is to require all Banks East and West to redeem their currency at par in New York instead of allowing the western banks one quarter of one per cent, discount on their notes redeemed in New York. Mr. Hale asked what was the difference as to taxation between the National and State banks in this bill. Mr Sherman explained that in this bill the whole tax relates to the National banks, the State bank subject being left to the tax bill.

The rates imposed by this bill are 1 per cent. on circulation, & per cent on deposites, and 1 per cent, on capital not invested in the bonds of the United States, and State taxation of the shares of the banks is permitted, in the hands of holders, to be paid at the place where a bank is located.

to have more money than the bill would give us. It would give no more than $200,000,000 to $225,000,000, when we needed $350 000,000. His amendment would accomplish the purpose. House .- Mr. Jenckes, of Rhode Island, from the Se'ect Committee on the subject, reported a bill to establish a uniform system of bankrupicy throughout the United States. Mr. Jenckes entered into an explanation of the provisions of the bill. It dealt with bankruptcy as a thoroughly practical question, and provided for both voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy. It brought the failing debtor and the creditor to a settlement on terms mutually beneficial to each. It discharged the honest debtor on the surrender of his property, and afforded protection to the creditor against the fraudulent practices and reckless conduct of the debtor. PHILADELPAIA, June 1 .- A telegram to Headquarters from Rolla, Missouri, dated the 13th, states that a train of Union refugees from Jacksonport, Arkansas, under an escort of 90 men of the Second Wisconsin cavalry was attacked at Salem, Arkansas, by 300 guerrillas. The entire train was burned, and about 90 men and some women killed.

On Tuesday last ten men of a detachment of the 2d Wisconsin cavalry, while out on a scout rom Rolla, becoming separated from the main body, were surrounded by guerrillas and five killed. The others making their escape and returning in larger force, found the bodies of those killed stripped and their throats cut. A gentleman just arrived from Little Rock, Arkansas, represents all quiet in that vicinity. Joe Shelby had left Brownsville about two weeks ago with a force estimated from 1,500 to 3,000, for southwest Missouri.

THE NEW REGISTRATION LAW .- The bill altering the registry law of the city of Washington finally passed the House yesterday with the Senate amendment.

As a matter of very general interest at this time, we have taken pains to procure an accurate copy, with the amendments, as passed. It is as follows: Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That in case any person who is a qualified voter in other respects shall offer and claim the right to vote at any election held in the city of Washington, whose name is not registered, his name shall be registered by the commissioners of election upon the terms and conditions following, namely, he shall take an oath as follows: You do solemnly swear that you will true answer make to such questions as shall be asked you touching your qualifications as an elector at this poll, so help you God; or an affirmation to the same effect which oath or affirmation, if he be unable to understand the English language, may be interpreted to him by one of the commissioners or an interpreter sworn by a commissioner, which interpreter shall also interpret his answer to the commissioners. If in his answer on oath he shall state positively that he has resided in the city one year next preceding the day of said election, designating particularly the place of his resi-dence, and that he possesses the other qualifications of an elector, and if, furthermore, some qualified elector of the city, not a candidate for any office at that election, shall take an oath before said commissioners, which any one of them may administer, that he is well acquainted with such applicant; that he is, in fact, a resident in the city, and has been one year next previous to such election, and that he (qualified elector) has good reason to believe, and does believe that all the statements of such applicant are true, the commissioners shall cause his name to be registered by their clerk, and shall then receive the vote of said applicant; or if said applicant shall present the affidavit of h mself and a qualified elector, duly certified by any justice of the peace in and for the county of Washington. District of Columbia, which shall satis!y the commissioners that the applicant has been a resident of the city one year next preceding the day of such election, and that he is otherwise a qualified elector, the commissioners may cause the applicant's name to be regist red, as hereinbefore provided, and they shall then receive his vote; and if said applicant or such qualified elector shall, in said matter, willfully make any talse statement, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and, on conviction, be subject to the pains and penalties thereof.

A DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT. - There was a large attendance last night at the Island Hall testival of the ladies of the 7th Street Presbyterian Church. The fine band of the Invalid Corps, stationed at Carver Barracks, was in attendance, and there was other good music, vocal and instrumental.

The room was tastefully decorated, and the various tables loaded down with attractive articles of use and ornament. We have not space to give any adequate idea of the various interesting features of the room, but must not fail to mention the superb table of fancy articles presided over by the Mrs. Fords, Mrs. Gettinger, and the Misses Lee. A ministure camp scene, representing Grant's headquarters, constructed by a soldier of company F, 27th Pennsylvania regiment, stationed at the Arsenal, attracts much attention here; also, the fine pictures of Washington and Martha Wach.

Opposite is the richly furnished table presided over by Mrs. Brown (wife of the pastor of the church) and Miss Emma J. Martin, This, too, has its special features of interest, one of which is a set of silver, (from Hood's,) to be awarded to the editor getting the largest number of votes, (25 cents.) We propose to be a candidate on that arrangement, and trustour constituents will vote early and vote often. A fine silver pitcher is up for the lucky candi. date for mayor, who shall get the largest number of 50 cent votes. We shall not gratify the curious by stating the present condition of the tally, but refer them to the agreeable young lady who has charge of the balloting book. An admirably designed and finished vase of Tennessee marble, executed by Mr. Geo. Warner, is to be seen here.

Next is the tempting confectionery and cake stand of Mrs. S. W. K. Handy; and on the other side is the busy post office, with Miss Lizzie Allen as epostmistress. Opposite is the "turn-table," presided over by Mrs. Otho Bos-well, with its constant circle watching with genuine interest the gyrations of the vane of Last but not least is the refreshment tables so admirably conducted by Mrs. Doniphan and Mrs. Hutchinson. Delicious strawberries and ice cream are among the good things dispensed here at moderate prices. It is worth a visit to the fair room to taste these luxuries.

GRAND LARCENY .- Yesterday, George Law. son, colored, was arrested by Sergeant Cronin upon a charge of robbing the house of Mr. Henry High, provision dealer. Lawson was employed by Mr. High to work about his stable. Yesterday Mr. High was at market, and the remainder of the family went out of the house temporarily, locked the doors and left Lawson in the stable. Upon their return, Lawson was gone; the house had been entered by a window, and a number of valuable articles and a sum of money stolen. Lawson is confined in the Fourth Ward Station, where he will be kept until the case is ready for trial.
